ORANGES AS MEDICINE.

People are coming round more and more to the true opinion that mineral drugs don't aid, but rather retard, recovery in case of sickness, and that the only true medicine is to be found in those that nature supplies so freely—air, water and food.

Foremost in value as medicine foods are fresh fruits, and none of these rank higher than oranges. Oranges are very rich in organic salts. They contain a high amount of potassium, calcium and sulphur, surpassing both cow's and human milk in this respect. No other fruit has such a high percentage of sulphur. Orange juice contains on an average 11½ per mille acid, which accounts for the high amount of potash and lime which are necessary for the formation of natural fruit acids. Pure orange juice is an ideal remedy for scrofula, rickets, nervousness, and especially blood disease (principally scurvy). It is most valuable for the reduction of uric acid and other waste matter in the system, and therefore both a preventive and curative food for rheumatism and gout. Consumptive and anemic people will also be greatly benefited by a diet of oranges on account of the high percentage of blood-building salts they contain.

Lemons have the largest amount of magnesium lime of all the fruits. They show the greatest acidity—73 per mille. Their juice is excellent for the preparation of both fruit and vegetable salads and should altogether replace vinegar, which is worse than alcohol, by depriving the blood of its important organic salts. Its medicinal quantities are highly appreciated in the cure of uric acid diseases.—[Des Moines Register and Leader.

MAN AND WOMAN HELD.

Mrs. Elizabeth Washburn, of Lafayette, Ind., who on Monday night caused the arrest in New York of Enrique Llamas, a youthful student, on a charge of stealing $12,400 from her, pleaded in vain with Magistrate Wable yesterday to dismiss the charge against the young man. Instead, the magistrate held Llamas in $5,000 on the larceny charge, and then directed the arrest of Mrs. Washburn and the rearrest of the young man on a statutory charge. Each was held in $600 bail for a hearing later on this complaint.

Mrs. Washburn was not a willing witness when she appeared in court. She first gave her name as Clara Smith, and refused to give her own name until she had been sent to a cell for a time. Then she pleaded for the prisoner.

"He is too nice a gentleman, Judge. He wouldn't steal the money," said she. "He could have stolen it a long time ago and a great deal more, had he wanted to do so."

"You ran away from your husband out in Lafayette with this person," was the magistrate's reply. "I know the type. I direct that the prisoner be held in $5,000 bail for trial." Mrs. Washburn said she is 36 years old. She told the court that she had paid Llamas' tuition at Purdue University and had made him an allowance of $50 a month. Since they went to New York sometime ago, they have been living in a furnished room in the upper west side.

Llamas appeared very much disturbed when he learned that Mrs. Washburn's husband had been apprised of the double arrest.

"Maybe he will shoot me," said the young man to an officer as he was being led away to a cell.

PRAYER ANSWERED?

Twelve hours after Rev. George Edward Lewis in a public prayer asked that the amusement resorts of Irving Park, Chicago, where liquor is served, might "be burned to the ground" Excelsior Park was consumed by fire yesterday.

The prayer was offered during a revival meeting of the Emmanuel Congregational Church held in a tent. Excelsior Park is within three blocks of the improvised church.

Proprietors of other parks in the neighborhood admit that they are both puzzled and frightened. They also declare that they have taken precautions to protect their properties. The effect of the preacher's words and the actual burning of one of their rivals in business have hastened a general expurgation of the faults touched on by the minister.

A. J. Smith, proprietor of the place, says that his loss will be about $50,000. He thought that crossed electric wires was probably the cause of the fire. He had not called on Dr. Lewis and he was not present when the minister offered his answered prayer Sunday evening.

An investigation is to be made. The police are looking for two men who were seen near the park early in the day.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 8, 1908.

ANDREW S. DRAPER, state commissioner of education of New York state, in an address before the University summer school yesterday said that American school children should not be taught to rise out of the "class" in which they are born. "In foreign countries," he said, "boys expect to follow their fathers and are expected to stay in the class where they begin. Here all are encouraged to move out of the class and do a more intellectual kind of work than their fathers did. In other words our educational system, acting upon our national temperments, often leads children into mischief. It often encourages them to undertake things for which they are not fitted. I think we make a mistake in telling the child that he can be president of the United States. It is not a mistake to tell him that he is eligible. But we do not explain the remoteness of the possibilities. We err in describing the road for reaching distinction." Mr. Draper further said that some radical readjustment is apparently necessary in order to maintain the intellectual and industrial equilibrium of the nation and that our present educational system trains for purely cultural, professional and managing vocations, to the exclusion of the industrial. In the next 25 years he said the equilibrium will have to be restored. Some of the students, nearly all of whom are teachers, denounced Mr. Draper's utterances as un-American. There is, no doubt, much truth in what he uttered, notwithstanding their protests

EARLY last night a refreshing breeze from the northwest was wafted over this city, and the mercury in the thermometer fell considerably. The change was welcomed with delight, the heat of the past few days having been very oppressive. During the night cooler conditions prevailed and today the temperature has been pleasant. Dispatches from a few cities show that one hundred persons have been killed by the hot wave. These figures, of course, do not embrace all the fatalities in the various sections of the country. They merely show the deaths in a few of the larger cities. Could the statistics be gathered they would probably show three or four times as many deaths from the recent torrid wave. But few people seem to realize the fatal effects of a brief heated term from the fact that all the people who lose their lives do not meet their fate in one house or in one city. Should a building collapse and kill fifty persons the newspapers would use swell-heads and the accounts would be read by horrified millions. The fatality attending a heat wave is often equally as great, but, as it extends over a larger area, it fails to horrify as would a disaster confined to any one place.

AMONG the press dispatches sent out from Denver yesterday concerning the democratic national convention the following paragraph appeared:

The usual precautions against fire observed in large convention halls were disregarded by many of the delegates, notably in the Virginia section, where half a dozen men puffed pipes and sent up whirling clouds of smoke from their cigars. One or two of the North Carolina men indulged themselves in a smoke which they interrupted when the band, after playing a medley of southern airs, swung into "Dixie," and then they, in common with the offenders from Virginia, forgot their tobacco while they rose and cheered approval of the old-time melody.

It is a great pity that men placed in representative positions cannot observe the amenities of good breeding for the time at least they occupy such positions. Smoking is objectionable to many people and it is entirely out of place in a national convention hall, but some smokers are such bores that in their selfishness they overlook common decency. Unfortunately, however, such men bring discredit upon those who elect them, as was the case at Denver.

RICHMOND PIERSON HOBSON, of Merrimac notoriety, is exhibiting his war scare in Denver. He still declares that this country is in imminent danger of war with Japan. He predicts that this war will take place during the next presidential administration, and believing that the democratic party will then be in power, he says that if it does not make proper preparations by additions to the navy, the party will be ground to powder. He declares that Japan is covetous, not of the Philippines alone, but of Hawaii and our own Pacific coast country. Mr. Hobson says he bases his statements on inside information. The ancient Greeks believed every man was accompanied by his demon, and the Israelites held that it was his angel. In our day many people pass through life with spectres dancing before them. Bellona seems to follow Mr. Hobson continually.

ONE of the best reasons the democrats have for nominating Mr. Bryan is that the republicans, one and all, are opposing his nomination. All of them fear him.

DESPITE the attempts of the republican press and most of the press associations to make fun of and belittle the democratic national convention now in session at Denver, that convention is composed of brainy and representative democrats and will compare favorably with many of its predecessors. Able men from all parts of the country are at Denver and it is hoped that their action will be such as to meet the approval of the people who sent them as their delegates and will be ratified at the polls next November.

No matter what anti-injunction resolution may be incorporated in the democratic platform at Denver, there is comfort in the assurance that the Congress of the United States will have the next to the last word to say on this subject. The last word, should it come to tampering with the writ of injunction in Congress, will be spoken by the Supreme Court in the performance of its duty to afford equal protection to all rights of property.

MR. SHERMAN, republican nominee for vice-president, will not resign his seat in Congress from New York. He believes that a bird in the hand is the noblest work of God and also that politics is monstrous unsertin. He will take no chances but continue to draw his congressional salary as long as he possibly can.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

Washington, July 8.

Unofficial information received at Washington today indicates that the revolution by which the government of Paraguay was overthrown was a result of the activity of Brazil and Argentine. It is believed that the government was aided by Argentine and that the revolutionists had the sympathy of Brazil. To what extent this sympathy goes is not known. According to information received today, the loss of life is estimated at from 100 to 150, while 400 were wounded. The first attack on July 2 was followed by continuous bombardment of two days, when the diplomatic corps intervened, asking protection for the lives of certain persons. President Beyra thereupon resigned, and Vice-President Navero, who was in sympathy with the revolutionary army, assumed the office. The situation is now said to tranquil. The State Department has received a dispatch from Minister O'Brien, dated July 7, saying that, as dean of the diplomatic corps, he took the initiative in all proceedings, for which both sides gave their thanks.

Further complications have been introduced into the revolutionary situation by the action of Nicaragua, according to dispatches received at the State Department this afternoon. These state that the government of Nicaragua is recruiting an army, and that troops, with Maxim batteries, are being rushed to the support of Honduras, against the revolutionists. Another dispatch from Salvador states that the revolutionary movement seems to have failed. As a result the action of Nicaragua in rushing troops to the border will probably be construed as a hostile move on the part of President Zelaya by the neighboring republic.

According to the crop reporting department of the department of agriculture the corn acreage this year shows an increase of 1,065,000 acres or 1 1-10 per cent, the general condition of the crop on July 1 being estimated at 82.8 per cent. The condition of spring wheat is estimated at 89.4 per cent. on July 1, as compared with 95 per cent. last month and 87.2 on July 1, 1907.

A number of consular appointments were announced at the State Department today, but none from Virginia. Among the consular assistants of the United States named is Kenneth S. Patton, of Virginia.

A weather bulletin issued today says: "Fair weather prevails this morning generally throughout the country. Fair and slightly cooler weather is indicated for the middle eastern states, and showers will be followed by fair weather in the southeastern states."

Rear Admiral James M. Dawson, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, has been relieved because of his approaching retirement which takes place on October 25. He will be succeeded by Rear Admiral W. T. Swinburne, now in command of the second division of the Pacific fleet.

Henry Watterson was in Cincinnati yesterday to attend the funeral of Murat Halstead. He predicted that Bryan would be nominated and elected. "This is the year that destiny has picked out to beat the republican party. The very virtues of Taft are against him as they were against James G. Blaine. Bryan on the day of the election will have the united democracy behind him. The dinner pail is empty now and it is not going to fill up before November. The working classes will be against the lawless rich."

SUMMER SCHOOL.

The most striking feature of the University of Virginia Summer school which now has an enrollment of over 800 from 24 states, is the substantial character of the work which is being done in all departments, but in addition to the regular work the management has provided for special features covering some of the most progressive movements in modern educational practice.

By far the most important of these is rural life week beginning July 13th, and ending July 18 h. The work of that week will be devoted especially to the problems of rural life in general, and rural school problems in particular. There will be addresses, stereopticon views, and demonstrations by various national experts, upon these subjects. Deputy State Superintendent E. C. Bishop, of Nebraska, who has been favored with such phenominal success in this work, will be present the entire week, together with many other speakers.

News of the Day.

One death and five prostrations resulted from the heat in Washington yesterday.

A dispatch from Cooperstown, N. Y., says the continued improvement in the condition of Bishop Potter has today made his complete recovery almost a certainty.

Hale and hearty, John D. Rockefeller is celebrating his sixty-ninth birthday anniversary at his summer home at Cleveland, Ohio, today. The richest man in the world passed a quiet day.

Three leaders of the Chinese rebellion have already been sentenced to death for complicity in the plot to poison the French garrison in the Hanoi barracks and other convictions are expected in the trial of a score of suspects, which was resumed today. Two hundred French colonial infantrymen were seriously poisoned as a result of this plot.

Virginia News.

A large barn on the farm of John Armel near White Post was burned Monday night, causing a loss of several thousand dollars. The live stock was saved, but the hay and farming implements were destroyed.

William Franklin Brittingham, during the civil war a gunner on the Confederate gunboat Hampton, of late years a well-known newspaper man, died in Richmond yesterday. Mr. Brittingham was a native of Hampton, and was 67 years old.

Ambassador and Mrs. Reid gave a dinner at Dorchester House, in London, last night, followed by a large reception, to meet the American bishops who attended the Lambeth Conference. Among the guests at the dinner was Bishop Gibson of Virginia.

The barn of Snow Hall on the Compton farm, three miles southwest of Manassas, was struck by lightning a few days ago and destroyed, together with nearly all the farming implements, sixteen tons of baled new hay, all the harness and the most valuable horse on the premises. Several outbuildings were also destroyed.

A tragedy occurred at Viewtown, Culpeper county, Saturday night. Elbert Smith quarreled with Edward Scott, and, becoming angry, stepped back and shot at Scott. The ball grazed Scott's head and struck Thomas Smith in the breast, inflicting a wound from which he died in a few hours. Thomas Smith was a first cousin of Elbert, and was only standing close by, being in no way implicated in the affair. He was only eighteen years old.

Frank Perry, who was serving a seven-years' sentence in the Richmond penitentiary, yesterday committed suicide by leaping from a 40-foot wall. Perry engaged in a fight with another prisoner in a cell, one of the guards being called in to quell the disturbance. Perry was ordered out of the cell. He complied readily enough, but instead of joining the other prisoners on the ground floor he walked out upon the wall and deliberately leaped off, breaking his neck. Perry was sentenced from Newport News for grand larceny. He had already served four years of his term.

Yesterday afternoon two daughters of O. T. Crosby, Elizabeth and Juliet, were playing about the reservoir near Warrenton. In an impulsive moment they sat on the edge of the reservoir and taking off shoes and stockings put their feet in the water. The moss being slippery both fell in. Juliet managed to put her foot in a crevice and struggled to the top. She ran to the house, a quarter of a mile away, for help, but there was not a man on the place. A telephone message reached Warrenton, six miles away. Many responded, but their help came too late. The body of the 14-year-old girl was recovered.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM SHOTGUN.

Miraculously dodging a shotgun leveled at his head by Lewis F. Mason, a solicitor for the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, H. T. Teele, manager of the Tidewater Trust Company, escaped with his life in Richmond shortly after noon yesterday to be injured a few minutes later in a tumble down a flight of back steps in his mad rush to escape his enraged pursuer.

Mason went into the office of the trust company and asked for the proprietor. Teele responded. He said that he was the man. Without warning Mason leveled the gun, muttering something about money that had been loaned his wife, and was in the act of drawing the cocked triggers when Teele dodged and rushed desperately through a rear door, closely pursued.

Teele succeeded in getting into a store next door. When Teele recovered from his excitement he 'phoned for the police and a warrant was sworn out, charging Mason with murderous assault. The arrest was made later in the afternoon, and the accused was bailed for his appearance in police court.

CHARTERS.

The following charters were issued yesterday by the State Corporation Commission:

The Louis Rothschild Company (incorporated), Alexandria: Harry Rothschild, president; Samuel Rothschild, secretary and treasurer, and David Rothschild, attorney and vice president, all of Washington; capital stock, maximum, $50,000; minimum, $50,000; objects and purposes, general merchandise business.

The Economy Cooperative Society (incorporated), Alexandria: David Rothschild, president; W. J. Hill, vice president, and W. B. Kraft, secretary and treasurer, all of Washington, D. C.; capital stock, maximum, $10,000; minimum, $10,000; objects and purposes, general merchandise business.

Hitchcock National Chairman.

Hot Springs, Va., July 8.—With the selection of Hitchcock for national chairman practically determined on, Candidate Taft went into session with the sub-committee of republican party managers here at noon. After a conference of an hour an a half, Frank Hitchcock was unanimously chosen to be chairman of the national republican committee.

Just before the session convened, James S. Sherman, vice presidential candidate, wired from Utica that he should be relieved of the chairmanship of the congressional committee. This somewhat confounded the gathering, but no comment was made.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

The democratic national convention which met at Denver yesterday effected a temporary organization with Theodore A. Bell, of California, as temporary chairman, whose keynote speech dwelt upon anti-injunction and Bryan as heir to Roosevelt policies. During his address he said:

Among the great evils that affect the country is the abuse of corporate power. Whenever the wrongs of today become the vested rights of tomorrow the nation is in deadly peril. The democratic party is not an enemy of all corporations. It recognizes their great value in the industrial world. The most palpable instance of the insincerity of the Chicago platform is found in its declaration respecting the issuance of injunctions. There is a vast difference between the protection of American industries and the protection of criminal monopolies. The corrupt use of money in political campaigns is largely responsible for the subversion of the people's will at the polls.

The democratic party believes that the first thing to do is to secure a physical valuation of the railroads.

These are the duties and opportunities of the democratic party as seen by the temporary chairman: To prevent the writ of injunction from being converted into an instrument of oppression; to revise the tariff in the interests of the whole people; to provide for publicity in the collection and use of campaign funds; to provide for the regulation of transportation companies and for more federal supervision over the issuance of railroad stocks and bonds; government control of corporations; direct election of United States senators; to keep an adequate naval strength in the Pacific; to prevent Asiatic immigration.

The other temporary officers are:

Secretary—Urey Woodson, Kentucky.

Assistant Secretary—Edwin Sefton, Washington, D. C.

Sergeant-at-Arms—John T. Martin, Missouri.

Chief Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms—J. C. Fenn, Indiana.

Chief Doorkeeper—Eugene W. Sullivan, Illinois.

Chaplains—Tuesday (opening day), Right Rev. James J. Keane, Archbishop of Wyoming; Wednesday, Rev. C. F. Reimer, Denver, Col.; Thursday, Rabbi Samuel Kore, Seattle, Wash.; Friday, Rev. P. T. Ramsey, Denver, Col.

Judge Parker got no chance to offer his Cleveland resolutions, though he read them when called upon to speak upon resolutions offered by a Bryan man.

They were such resolutions as Mr. Bryan himself might have drawn. They reflected on no one. They were a splendid eulogy of the distinguished son of New York who died at Princeton two weeks ago.

He explained to the convention that these were the resolutions he would have offered had he been given the opportunity. Then he seconded the resolutions offered by the distinguished Assistant Corporation Attorney of Omaha. The resolutions were adopted and that closes an incident that four days ago bade fair to disrupt the convention and destroy its harmony.

The resolutions adopted were formal expressions of regret at Mr. Cleveland's death.

When the time arrived for the consideration of the resolutions Mr. Ignatius J. Dunn, of Omaha, edged toward the platform and was recognized by the Chair. The resolutions, of course, contained no reference to politics or questions on which Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Bryan differed.

Temporary Chairman Bell sent the two sets of Pennsylvania nominations for national committeemen and places on the committees to the credentials committee despite the protests of the Pennsylvania regulars.

The scene in the convention hall was picturesque, artistic decorations and beautiful flowers being the unusual feature.

"Maryland, My Maryland" and "Dixie" were the pet pieces frequently played during the day by the excellent Cowboy band.

After the appointment of the committees the convention adjourned till today in respect to the memory of the late President Cleveland.

The committees on resolutions, on credentials and on rules were in session throughout the evening with a recess for dinner.

Captain Hobson appeared before the platform committee with his Japanese war scare as an argument for a bigger navy.

A committee of the national rivers and harbors congress appeared before the committee on resolutions to urge a plank committing the democratic party to the inland waterway project.

The committee on permanent organization met on the afternoon and, on motion of Governor Folk, of Missouri, selected Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, as permanent chairman of the convention. For the other officers the temporary selections were made permanent.

Immediately after being called to order in the afternoon the platform committee of the convention elected Gov. Charles N. Haskell, of Oklahoma, as permanent chairman. The committee then decided to entrust the details of the preparation of the platform to a subcommittee of 17 members to be appointed by the chairman, but before these appointments were announced the full committee listened to arguments in support of various planks which will be offered for adoption.

The tide of Bryan sentiment sweeps on, gathering force as it proceeds, and last night a chorus of "Bryan, Bryan," was well-nigh universal. With it is a steady swelling undercurrent for the nomination of George Gray, of Delaware, as vice-president, and this movement, at first intangible, has now assumed a definiteness which promises to merge it soon with the seemingly overwhelming current moving toward Bryan.

Virginia's representatives on committees are: Resolutions, Senator Daniel; credentials, Sands; permanent organization, Green; to notify president, Tyler; to notify vice president, Ford; national committeeman, Ellison. Gov. Swanson asked to be omitted from the committees and that they be distributed among his colleagues.

Today's Telegraphic News.

The Denver Convention.

Denver, July 8.—At what was probably as stormy an all-night session of a committee on credentials ever held at a democratic national convention the permanent roll call of the present convention was still uncompleted this morning. The committee had been in continuous session since five o'clock yesterday afternoon, hearing evidence in the several contests and spent the early hours today in active conclave, debating the merits. It is expected to be ready to report to the convention soon afternoon when the second day's session convention is called to order.

So severe were the strictures on some of the "bosses" that the convention after hearing the evidence in a few of their cases in public, directed that all others be heard behind closed doors.

It was agreed this morning that the Dubois delegates in Idaho would be continued on the roll, although a strong fight was being made to compromise and split the vote; that the Sullivan delegates in Illinois would be seated; likewise the Tammany allies in Kings county, N. Y., that the Gaffey men would either be dislodged in the Pennsylvania contests or the vote there divided with the Bryan men; the Johnson delegates would be seated in the District of Columbia.

The committee was said to be divided, but it was expected that all questions in dispute would be amicably settled before adjournment, and that there would be no minority report.

Throughout the night and morning three leaders, Colonel James M. Guffey, of Pennsylvania; Roger Sullivan, of Illinois, and Patrick H. McCarren, of New York, fought hard for the perpetuation of their political power, and when the committee finally began the preparation of its report, chasms had been split into the body democratic in Pennsylvania, New York and Illinois that are likely to remain for a long time. As the night wore on, the bitterness between the factions in the lobbies increased and several times fist fights were only prevented by the interference of bystanders. This was particularly so in the cases of the New York and Pennsylvania contests.

The first contest heard was that from Idaho and it was the only one which the general public witnessed. John F. Nugent fought it out with former Senator Fred Dubois and State Chairman Jackson and the fire was passed a number of times. On one occasion when Jackson declared that Nugent and his followers were advocates of polygamy, several of the contestants started for him, declaring they would make him "eat" his words, but the sergeant-at-arms interfered and the episode was closed.

It was when the Illinois contests were taken up that the real fireworks began to go off. George F. Mulligan, opening for the so-called "Bobbie" Burke contestants, declared that Sullivan had sent delegates to the national convention whose selection was "consummated through deceit and debauchery." He declared that Sullivan and his friends had wrecked the democratic party in Illinois; that it was always a case of "rule or ruin" with him, and that he was now a party to a deal to defeat the democratic organization in Illinois.

Sullivan sharply replied to Mulligan. He intimated that the present contests were "framed up" because "outside influences wanted him to get out of state politics," and declared that his opponents were "democrats all the year excepting on election day when their votes were needed." Sullivan declared that his delegates were regularly elected according to democratic usages, and he demanded that they be seated.

Judge Wm. Prentiss replied to Sullivan and almost caused a riot by the vigor of his denunciation.

"Why, this man is not a democrat," he began, "I can refer you to no less an authority than Mr. Bryan himself. He has declared that Sullivan has never been a party man excepting for revenue, and I warn this committee that just so long as it permits this individual to corrupt and debauch the electors of Illinois just so long will the vote of that state be recorded in favor of republicans. Throw Sullivan to the dogs, where he belongs, and we will again be able to pile up the entire majorities that are so badly needed. Let us clean house and scorge the corruptionists into the open. If you will do so and seat the men who earned their seats by true party work, we will see that the state gives its vote to Bryan. But this we cannot promise so long as you continue Sullivan and his ilk in control."

New York followed Illinois. McCarren as the leader of the contestants was given the first say. He denounced the district leaders who had deserted him and aided Tammany in his overthrow as "political thieves who would stop at nothing to attain their own ends."

George B. S. Williams, chairman of the anti-McCarren organization in Kings county, created a sensation with his opening sentence. "If this man McCarren tells you he will support Bryan when he goes home from this convention he lies," shouted Williams. "Don't forget this, he lies and he does not dare to say that he will either vote or work for the great party leader. Throughout the columns of his chosen organ in Brooklyn he has announced that he will not tolerate Bryan or Bryanism. This Judas betrayed the democratic ticket at the last election in New York State and defeated the democratic candidate for governor, Mr. Hearst. Why, during the last campaign he remained under cover until a few weeks before the day of election and then he publicly called on his friends to knife the ticket. Here is a sample ballot which he sent from his headquarters to a democratic voter. It contains instructions how to vote the ticket in order that the vote may be recorded for the republican candidate for governor and the balance of the democratic ticket. For years he has openly traded with the republican leaders, and now he has the effrontery to come here, after being repudiated by the democracy in open State convention and ask that you seat him over the heads of the democrats who have never voted the republican ticket nor affiliated with that party. Democracy stands for home rule and we have thrown this man out of party. All you can do if you are democrats is to endorse the action of our State convention and repudiate once and for all McCarren, of Kings."

When Pennsylvania was reached Charles Donnelly and William J. Brennan presented the side of the Guffey men, while J. Berwood Daly and L. McWhinton argued against continuing on the roll the delegates who are friendly to the Pittsburg boss. Both Donnelly and Brennan argued that Guffey was the logical leader of the party in Pennsylvania, and they denied that he had ever made any deals with the republican bosses of Philadelphia whereby they had aided in defeating the Bryan men in that city. They stated that Guffey had worked unceasingly for the success of the democratic party, and declared that were it not for his efforts and his liberal contributions of funds for the party use there would be no democracy in the keystone state.

Daly and McWhinton accused the Pennsylvania boss of selling out the party in Philadelphia to the enemy in return for support at party primaries.

There were several heated verbal encounters during the presentation of the Pennsylvania contest which was reached long after daylight, and it required radical measures by the chairman to keep peace.

The last case taken up was the contest from the District of Columbia, and here also the evidence was exactly the same as presented to the committee on Monday.

The committee approved the action of the national committee in seating four of one faction and two of the other.

The credentials committee went into executive session and at once began the discussion of the merits of each contest.

Denver, July 8.—The Murphy delegation was seated unanimously by the credentials committee.

In the Pennsylvania contest the anti-Guffeyites won.

In the Idaho contest the Senator Dubois delegation was seated.

In the nineteenth district of Ohio the Tom Johnson delegates won by two votes, 24 to 22.

In the Illinois contest the Roger Sullivan delegates won.

Denver, July 8.—Contrary to all precedent, the democratic committee on resolutions will spend two nights and a day in constructing a platform.

The sub-committee, said to have been selected by Bryan, is made up as follows:

Chairman, Gov. C. N. Haskell, of Oklahoma; U. L. Martin, Alabama; C. S. Thomas, Colorado; Jerry Sullivan, Iowa; John E. Lamb, Indiana; Samuel Alschuler, Illinois; J. C. Beckham, Kentucky; E. L. Noel, Mississippi; Geo. F. Williams, Massachusetts; W. F. Stone, Missouri; F. W. Brown, Nebraska; Alton B. Parker, New York; F. W. Newlands, Nevada; R. D Inman, Oregon; R. F. Pettigrew, South Dakota, O. A. Swanson, Virginia.

After a short sleep the sub-committee resumed its labors at 9 o'clock. They will be at it until 5 p. m. when they expect to report to the full committee, which will proceed straightway with the preparation of the final draft of the platform. They figure on reporting to the convention at ten a. m. Thursday.

The Bryan delegates from Philadelphia were seated by a vote of 30 to 14, and the Guffey delegates turned down after having been given seats by the national committee. Delegates from Allegheny given half vote each.

The Kelley delegation of the District of Columbia was given four votes and the Darr delegation two.

The committee decided to increase the number of delegates for Oklahoma from 14 to 18, which will make the total vote in the convention 1,006 if that body ratifies the credentials committee report.

Governor Swanson, of Virginia, who took Senator Daniel's place on the subcommittee, the latter being absent because of illness, presented a plank pledging the support of the democrats to reform issues in the House. Swanson was warmly applauded, and it is predicted that his plank will be adopted.

Denver, July 8.—Colonel James M. Guffey, of Pittsburg, declared at noon that despite the action of the credentials committee if it should be ratified by the convention, he would succeed himself as national committeeman, "I'll have a majority of one," he declared. The Bryan men dispute this and claim the Pennsylvania delegation by three votes. The Pennsylvania delegation will caucus immediately after today's session of the convention.

Denver, July 8.—The convention was called to order at 12:25 p. m. Prayer was offered by Dr. C. F. Reisner.

Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, then addressed the convention and named Bryan as the greatest living apostle of human liberty. This started a demonstration which still continues.

At 1:29 o'clock a parade of State standards was started amid tremendous enthusiasm which is still on.

Threatened with Revolution.

Tegucigalpe, Honduras, July 8.—Troops were sent to Choluteca and Amapal, Honduras, the only Pacific port to prevent the capture of these towns by bands of raiders, presumable revolutionists. The attack on Gracias, a small town near the Salvador border, has aroused the government officials to the seriousness of the situation. Many insist that the outbreaks in other quarters are the work on bandits, but evidences of a general discontent of the people against the rule of President Davila are so manifest that high officials fear that Honduras is threatened with a widespread revolution.

Guatemala and Nicaragua are similarly affected, and should the rebellion not be checked an attempt to establish an allied government of these three states will be made.

The work of rehabilitating the army of Honduras is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

The Revolution in Mexico.

Mexico City, July 8.—Discouraging reports reached government officials today regarding the status of the revolution along the northern border. It is apparent that the spirit of the revolution is deep-seated and spreading. The sinister feature of the case is the enlistment of Yaqui Indians in the revolution.

A message from Casa Grande says a company of soldiers was attacked by a combined force of revolutionists and Yaquis ten miles from there. Two soldiers and five Indians are reported killed and a score injured.

The spread of the revolution to the northwestern part of Mexico is causing alarm here. The bushwacking methods of the revolutionists and Yaquis just suit the mountainous regions to the north, and the government is fearful that a campaign of many months will be required to exterminate the bands.

Workmen Buried in Sewer Trench.

Dayton, Ohio, July 8.—Eight workmen are believed to have been killed in a sewer trench cave-in in North Dayton today. Two bodies have been recovered.

Princess de Sagan in Legal Fight.

Paris, July 8.—Princess de Sagan began her honeymoon in Paris today by engaging in a legal fight for the retention of the custody of her three small sons, the children of Count Boni de Castellane. The action of her former husband in appearing before Judge Henri Ditte, president of the tribunal of the first instance of the Seine, and seeking to have the custody of the children restored to him was made known to Princess de Sagan while she was still in London, and she and the prince, whom she had married but a few hours before, decided to fight the count's suit. On her arrival here the princess called in her counsel, and it is expected that this afternoon or tomorrow an appearance will be entered before Judge Ditte to answer Boni's suit. As there were no stipulations in the princess's divorce from Boni regarding another marriage it is not believed that she will have any trouble in retaining the custody of the children, the youngest of whom is slightly ill at the home of Boni's mother.

Suit Ended.

New York, July 8.—After seventeen years of litigation in New York courts the suit of Donnelly vs. McArdle is ended. Among them Joseph H. Choate, practically all the leaders of the city bar have appeared in its hundreds of phases, and fourteen years ago the litigants engaged in the only shooting affray in the history of New York court proceedings, Donnelly and McArdle, brothers-in-law were business partners in 1887. Later friction developed and Donnelly gave his partner a bill of sale of his entire interest for one dollar. On this hinged the long legal fight Donnelly declaring the bill of sale merely an expedient and McArdle contending it was absolute. Donnelly's contention is upheld in the order by Judge Seabury filed in the office of the county clerk today.

Owl Gouges a Man's Eye.

Pottstown, Pa., July 8.—David Bergey, a farmer near Parkerford, had a terrific battle last night with a huge owl that suddenly swooped down on his head while he was walking in the orchard. It fastened its sharp talons in Bergey's hair, and giving vent to its anger in weird hoots, plunged its beak into his clothes.

Bergey tried to protect his face and pulled big chunks of feathers from the owl in his attempts to dislodge it. Loosening its hold on his head, the bird sank one of its talons in Bergey's eye and almost pulled it from its socket. It then flew off while Bergey, in awful agony, summoned a physician, who has little hope of saving the sight of the lacerated eye.

The Poisoning of Dr. Wilson.

Philadelphia, July 8.—New clues to the man whose cyanide-poisoned ale slew Dr. W. H. Wilson are expected today from another examination of the dead man's wife, who is to be questioned by Superintendent Taylor. Peculiar construction of the typewriter used by the supposed slayer in his letters to the police is being investigated with the hope of opening a fresh trail, as is also the reported attempt of a strange man to induce Drs. Stern and Trau to permit him to see the body after death. Traces of a man who has written letters to the coroner lauding the poisoning of Wilson were picked up yesterday and followed to Jersey City.

Denies Marrying Actress.

New York, July 8.—"I'll put up a million dollars that Sam has not married this actress," said Edward Willets, multi-millionaire of "Brighthome, L. I., today, when asked if his son and heir had really wed Mrs. Amber Lawlor. "My boy got down on his knees, held up his hands and swore to me that he had not married Mrs. Lawlor. And I believe him." Young Willets took dinner last night with the woman registered under his name at the Hotel Bevan, Larchmont Today Mr. Willets, jr., is not to be seen, and "Mrs." Willet will not talk.

Investigating Prison Massacre.

St Petersburg, July 8.—A partial report was made to the czar today by the committee which, on the czar's orders, is investigating the Yekaterini prison massacre on June 12. The czar was practically forced to order this investigation by the activity of the douma progressives, who have developed the fact that the "mutiny," by which name the prison officials first called the outrage, grew out of the suicide by a bomb explosion of three prominent prisoners, who had been condemned to death for supporting the progressive candidate at a bye election for the douma. Though it was known to the prison authorities that none but these three were concerned in the explosion, they slaughtered other prisoners. Forty-two were killed and 46 so severely injured that they will be crippled for life. Prison wardens pushed their guns through the peep holes of the cell doors and shot the affrighted prisoners within. In some cases they poked out the prisoners' eyes, tore open their stomachs with bayonets, chipped off limbs and committed other unspeakable atrocities.

Half of Ireland Transferred.

Dublin, July 8.—Half of Ireland has been transferred during the last twenty years from the landlords to the tenants, said T. W. Russell, M. P., vice president of the Irish department of agriculture to a United Press representative today. "The sum involved in this compulsory purchase of land under various acts during that period is no less than $400,000,000," he continued. "The effect on Ireland has been most beneficial. Agriculture has developed. As an example, during the last three years the export of Irish eggs has increased at the rate of $1,250,000 a year. There has been a revival of the growth of flax in Cork and two mills which had long been closed are starting again. The Irish bacon industry has so improved by the efforts of the department that the value of pigs has increased by $5 a head."

Deaths from Heat.

New York, July 8.—Fully 75 persons dead, more than 200 heat prostrations recorded and misery such as has rarely been endured is the record of the ten days of torrid torture which fresh breezes and a lower temperature ended today.

Despite the drop of the mercury, six deaths and several prostrations were recorded today, but they were rather the effects of the long hot spell than results of exposure today. In all the hospitals and in thousands of the city's hotels heat victims are now recovering, and the weather bureau's prophecies of continued cooler days and nights is looked upon as closing one of the most serious periods of heat suffering the city has endured for many years.

Suicide of a Boy.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 8.—Because his father killed his pet goat, "Tony" Moscato, aged 10, who lived in Silver Creek, N. Y., shot himself in the head last night with a small rifle and died instantly.

New York Stock Market.

New York, July 8.—There was a pronounced improvement in the stock market with the opening and in the first hour generally higher levels were reached in nearly everything traded in.

Price movements were narrow but at midday enough of the gains were held to make the range of prices then slightly higher than those at the end of the first hour.

THE RIVER FRONT.

The parks in large cities are not more sought after than the wharves at the eastern end of Alexandria during hot weather. Without exaggeration not less than a thousand people his themselves to the river front every evening to watch the excursion steamers as they glide majestically down the Potomac to the different summer resorts and to get the breeze from the river, which at times is very exhilarating. Many too are interested in the fast motor boats as they try conclusions with each other on the river off this city, and still others to view the practice of the Old Dominion Boat Club, which occurs every night. It is interesting to watch the maneuvres of the speed boats owned by Messrs. Bruce Emerson, Joseph Moore and William Moore and the races between them are exciting at times. Mr. Bruce Emerson has added another boat of a different design which will be launched in a day or two and it is expected to develop about four miles an hour more speed than any yet constructed.

REMAINS TAKEN HOME.

Paul Black, of Charlotte, N. C., left this city last night having in charge the remains of his fifteen-year-old brother, Charles, who was struck by an engine and killed a short distance north of the union passenger station on the night of Sunday, the 29th ultimo. He was accompanied by J. V. Walker, a Charlotte undertaker. The latter with the brother of the unfortunate youth reached this city yesterday morning and later obtained permission from Coroner Ashton, of Alexandria county, to disinter the body. A photograph made the identification positive. Mr. B. Wheatley subsequently took charge of the remains and prepared them for transportation.

ENFORCING THE SEWER LAW.

People who have failed to have their premises connected with the city sewers, in accordance with the ordinances of the city are again being cited to appear in the Police Court to show cause why they should not be fined. According to the law, no person living in a house abutting on a public sewer is allowed to run anything into the streets except rainwater. The city in recent years has expended many thousands of dollars in sewer work, although comparatively few persons have tapped the same. In instances people who were clamorous for sewers a decade or more ago have failed to avail themselves of their benefit.

The latter said he did not make it out or sign it, and that Small was never employed by him. The accused was sent on to the grand jury. Mr. G. L. Boothe appeared as counsel for the prisoner.

DOG WAGON.

The dog wagon was started on its rounds this morning. A vehicle belonging to W. W. Simpson was utilized after it had been arranged with an iron caging similar to that on the United States mail wagon. The vehicle is in charge of Frank Weador, and Dick Pines, colored, is making the captures. Officer Garvey accompanied the vehicle this morning. The dogs will be corralled at the city gas works, and if not redeemed within a given time they will be destroyed.

DEATH OF MRS. DAVIS.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Davis, wife of Captain J. V. Davis, will regret to hear of the death of that lady which occurred at Antietam, Md., this morning. Her funeral will take place on Friday afternoon and the interment will be at Antietam. Capt. Davis was in charge of the National Cemetery at Alexandria for over a quarter of a century, and during all that time nearly everybody in this city at times visited the cemetery. Many of our people became personally acquainted with the host and hostess, who spared no pains in making their guests feel perfectly at home at all times. It can be truly said that Mrs. Davis was a noble woman, and one who was justly esteemed by all who knew her. Many years ago Captain Davis was transferred from Alexandria to Little Rock, Ark., and the most influential people in this city as well as in the entire congressional district interested themselves in having the captain returned to his former charge and all rejoiced when he and Mrs. Davis were again ensconced in their former home. Captain Davis, who knows nearly every person in Alexandria, has the sincere sympathy of the entire community in the loss he has sustained.

A PRESBYTERIAN PICNIC.

The Second Presbyterian Church of this city with the Central and Second churches of Washington, have chartered the steamer Queen Anne and the grounds at River View for a big Presbyterian picnic Friday, July 10th. Tickets have been given to all the children of these Sunday schools and the Chapel school on south Fairfax street, and many of the parents will go and spend the day. Besides this, invitations have been sent to all the Presbyterian churches in this end of the State, and delegations are expected from a number of places. Various games and amusements will be provided by committees, and everything possible done to make all have a good time. Tickets will be sold to the public, irrespective of denomination, and a large number will doubtless go with them because of the assurance that the bars will be closed, and in the evening there is promise of an almost full moon.

THE WEATHER.

The high temperature which has prevailed for the past several days moderated somewhat last night shortly before nine o'clock when the skies became overcast and a stiff breeze came out from the northwest and rain was threatened. The clouds soon passed, however, without rainfall, but the mercury dropped several degrees. At 8 o'clock this morning more pleasant conditions prevailed and the mercury had gotten down below the 80 mark. At noon it stood at 81°.

DOCK TO BE FILLED.

The dock south of Aitcheson's wharf and between that property and that of the Old Dominion Boat Club is being filled in by Mr. DeW. Aitcheson and a fine wharf will be constructed out to the line of his other wharf. This will be an improvement on the river front and will give additional wharf accomodations.

PRESBYTERIAN PIONIC FRIDAY.

Steamer Queen Anne leaves Mutual Ice Company's wharf 10.30 a. m., 2.45 and 7.15 p. m. Friday, July 10th for River View. Boat and grounds under control of Presbyterians of Alexandria and Washington. VIRGINIA'S LOSS IS MARYLAND'S GAIN.

It is a strange coincidence but it is nevertheless true, that the state of Virginia—and especially the city of Alexandria—is a loser for the benefit of Maryland. The patience of the auditor having ceased to be a virtue and the rattle of the wheels of the dog cart sent out by the mayor to take up unlicensed canines being heard in the land, the state of Maryland has been enriched suddenly by the addition of from one to a hundred dogs. They are taken to the opposite shore by their owners, who will not pay the dog tax, and turned loose to find a home as best they can. One colored man had seven in a boat on his way across the river last night. A farmer in Prince Georges county, just opposite this city, says in the month of July last year he was presented with not less than twenty dogs, in breed anywhere from a rat-terrier to a greyhound.

U. S. vs. Ruben Mountjoy, of Stafford county, indicted for selling liquor without having paid the special tax therefor; jury and case in progress.

Daring Act of Yeggmen

New York, July 8.—Daring yeggmen early today cracked two safes in the very heart of the downtown business district and came within an ace of getting away with a $30,000 haul. As it was they got only about a thousand dollars to recompense them for one of the boldest acts that has occurred in the city for years. After boring through twenty inches of masonry, sawing through a partition and successfully wielding a skeleton key in a Beekman street building, occupied by the Diamond Point Pen Company, the yeggman reached the office sometime early today. They then cracked the two safes in the office in which was stored the gold used in making the pen points. They cleaned out both safes, but, fortunately for the company, about $29,000 worth of gold bars had been removed yesterday and only about $1,000 worth remained.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S THANKS.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland yesterday issued the following card to the public:

In our great grief there has come to my children and myself from all over our country and from other lands expressions of condolence in our bereavement and of a participation in our sorrow. My heart is touched by these and by all the tributes paid to Mr. Cleveland in word and act. I am deeply gratified for the comfort that God gives in this way. I regret the multitude of these messages renders it impossible for me to send a personal word of thanks for each. The press has kindly offered to bear for me this expression of my own and my children's gratitude and appreciation, and I hope it will reach all who have thought of him and of us.

BISHOP VAN DE VYVER TO STAY

Bishop Van de Vyver, of Richmond, was notified from Rome yesterday that the pope had sanctioned his request to remain in charge of this diocese after his former request to be relieved of duty here.

The bishop's resignation is therefore withdrawn.

"My best endeavors," said the bishop in a statement yesterday, "shall be constantly exerted to promote the welfare and happiness of those among whom Divine Providence has happily allowed me to labor for the last 38 years."

The Servant Girl in Germany.

In most German households there is no such thing as the strict division of labor insisted on here. Your cook will be delighted to make a blouse for you, and your nurse will turn out in the dining room, while your chambermaid will take the child for an airing if you order it so. They are more human in their relation to their employers. The English servant fixes a gulf between herself and the most democratic mistress. The German brings her intimate joys and sorrows to a good herrschaft and expects their sympathy.

When a girl has bad luck and engages with a bad herrschaft she is worse off than in England because she is more in the power of her employers and of the police than she would be here. She has to have a dienstbuch, an official book in which her age and personal appearance are registered. In this book her employers write her character. It is under the control of the police and has to be shown to them when she leaves and when she enters a situation. It is hardly necessary to say that when a girl does anything seriously bad and her employers record it in the book the book gets "lost." Then the police interfere and make it extremely disagreeable for the girl.

Restaurant Stories.

"I don't care for the vulgar type of restaurant story," said a New York hotel keeper. "I refer to that type where the guest shouts angrily to the waiter:

"'Ugh, this steak is not fresh! What a horrible smell! Here, waiter, judge for yourself!'

"But, shaking his head, the waiter points to the next table and answers grimly:

"'Beg pardon, sir, you're quite wrong. It's the other gentleman's fish.'

"Or the story of the man who complained about his planked shad, winding up:

"'I hope you don't think me unreasonable, waiter?'

"'No, no, sir,' the waiter answered. 'You're the sixth person what has complained about that portion of shad.'

"On a somewhat higher plane are the meat stories. Thus a strange guest says:

"'Surely this isn't a barber shop as well as a restaurant? I see a lot of razors lying about.'

"'Oh, no, sir!' says the waiter. 'Those are for the steak customers. Did you say steak, sir?'"

Youthful Logic.

Mrs. L., a young and inexperienced Sunday school teacher, was at times sorely perplexed how to answer the questions put to her by some of her unusually bright pupils. One day just after she had finished telling the children the story that Adam was the first man God created quiet reigned in the class room for several minutes. Suddenly up jumped little Rosie and in a piping voice said, "Oh, teacher, you forgot to tell us whether God created Adam right away a man or a baby!" Embarrassed Mrs. L. looked up to the ceiling and then to the children for an inspiration. Happily she quickly spied Betty's little hand raised above the others eager to answer the question.

"Teacher, I am surprised my sister Rosie should ask such a foolish question. Why, God must have created Adam right away a big man, because if God had created him a baby he would have had to have a mother to take care of him."

Curious Book Titles.

Curious book titles are always being rediscovered, mostly from that prolific period the commonwealth, when sanctimony was supreme.

Thus: "John Dances Better Than Peter; Peter Dances Better Than John; Both Dance Well" (a vicious attack on the Jesuits, in five volumes). "A Sigh For the Sinners of Zion, Coming From a Hole In the Wall, by an Earthen Vessel, Known Among Men as Samuel Fisher" (was this how taverns came to take the sign of the "hole in the wall?")—London Scraps.

Unrequited Genius.

The world has never learned the name of the genius who conceived the idea of spreading butter upon his bread, a combination of food elements more palatable, more wholesome and more universally popular than any that the combined wisdom of all the professors who have ever lived has been able to devise.—Epicure.

An Expert Carver.

Mme. X. wishes to secure a new butler. "You know how to serve the table and especially can you carve well?" she asked an applicant.

"Madam may rest assured of it," he replied. "When one has been ten years a surgeon's servant in a dissecting room one ought to understand his business."

The Natural Kind.

"What sort of steed do you suppose was most popular during the days of chivalry?"

"I suppose it was a knight-mare."—Baltimore American.

Wisdom.

Neighbor—Do you think your sister is in love with Mr. Simpkins? Little Dora—Of course not. She allows us children to remain in the parlor when he calls.—Exchange.

Had Lifted One.

"Pa, these burglars that blew up a store"—

"Go on."

"Are they shoplifters?"—Kansas City Times.

Yes and No.

"Are you able to keep a cook?"

Remarkable Story

The story of Mrs. Matilda Warwick, of Kokomo, Ind., as told below, proves the curative properties of that well-known female remedy, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. Warwick says:

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

"I suffered from pains in my head, shoulders, limbs, side, stomach low down, dizziness, chills, nervousness, fainting spells and other female troubles. I was almost dead. Three doctors did not help me. At last, I took Cardui, and with the first bottle obtained relief. Now I am cured. But for Cardui, I would have been dead." Try Cardui.
